

The background of the entire page is a control room with multiple computer monitors displaying various industrial and security camera feeds. The scene is dimly lit, with the primary light source being the screens themselves. A large, semi-transparent dark blue circle is centered over the middle of the image, containing the main headline and a paragraph of text. The monitors show a variety of views, including industrial facilities, storage yards, and construction sites. Some screens have timestamps and labels like "CAM1" and "CAM2" visible.

Control multiple systems from one workspace with one keyboard and mouse set.

Control room operators must monitor information coming from multiple different systems, each with its dedicated set of keyboard and mouse. A more seamless multi-system control is crucial for improving the operator's response time and workspace ergonomics. With Matrox KMLync, operators can work across a larger multi-monitor workspace, controlling up to four separate systems—using a single keyboard and mouse pair to switch between systems using seamless mouse technology or on-device buttons.
